About the Sao Tome and Principe Citizenship by Investment Programme

Sao Tome and Principe is a picturesque island nation in the Gulf of Guinea, renowned for its ecological purity, tropical forests, pristine beaches, and a distinctive cultural blend of African and Portuguese traditions. The country is characterised by stability, safety, and notably low crime rates.

In 2025, the Government introduced the Citizenship by Investment Programme, under Law No. 7/2022 and Decree No. 07/2025, designed to attract foreign capital into strategic national projects across energy, education, healthcare, infrastructure, and ecotourism.

The programme enables investors and their families to obtain citizenship and a Sao Tome and Principe passport through an irrevocable contribution to the National Transformation Fund. All contributions are strictly allocated to development initiatives and subject to state audits.

Successful applicants gain not only visa-free access to 69+ destinations, including Qatar, the UAE, South Africa, Singapore, and Hong Kong, but also enhanced privileges as part of the Community of Portuguese Language Countries (CPLP), with simplified options to live and work in Portugal and Brazil.

About Sao Tome and Principe

Geography and Climate

Situated approximately 250 km off the coast of Central Africa, Sao Tome and Principe comprises two main islands and several smaller islets, covering around 1,000 km². The tropical climate is hot and humid, with a rainy season from October to May, and the islands are distinguished by rich biodiversity and lush forests.

History

Discovered by the Portuguese in the late 15th century, the islands developed into colonial hubs for sugar and cocoa plantations. Independence was achieved in 1975, establishing one of Africa's smallest republics. Strong ties remain with Portugal and other CPLP members.

Economy

Agriculture, particularly cocoa, remains central to the economy, alongside fishing and tourism. More than half of food products are imported, while future growth is focused on expanding ecotourism and energy sectors. Development support is provided by the World Bank and other international partners.

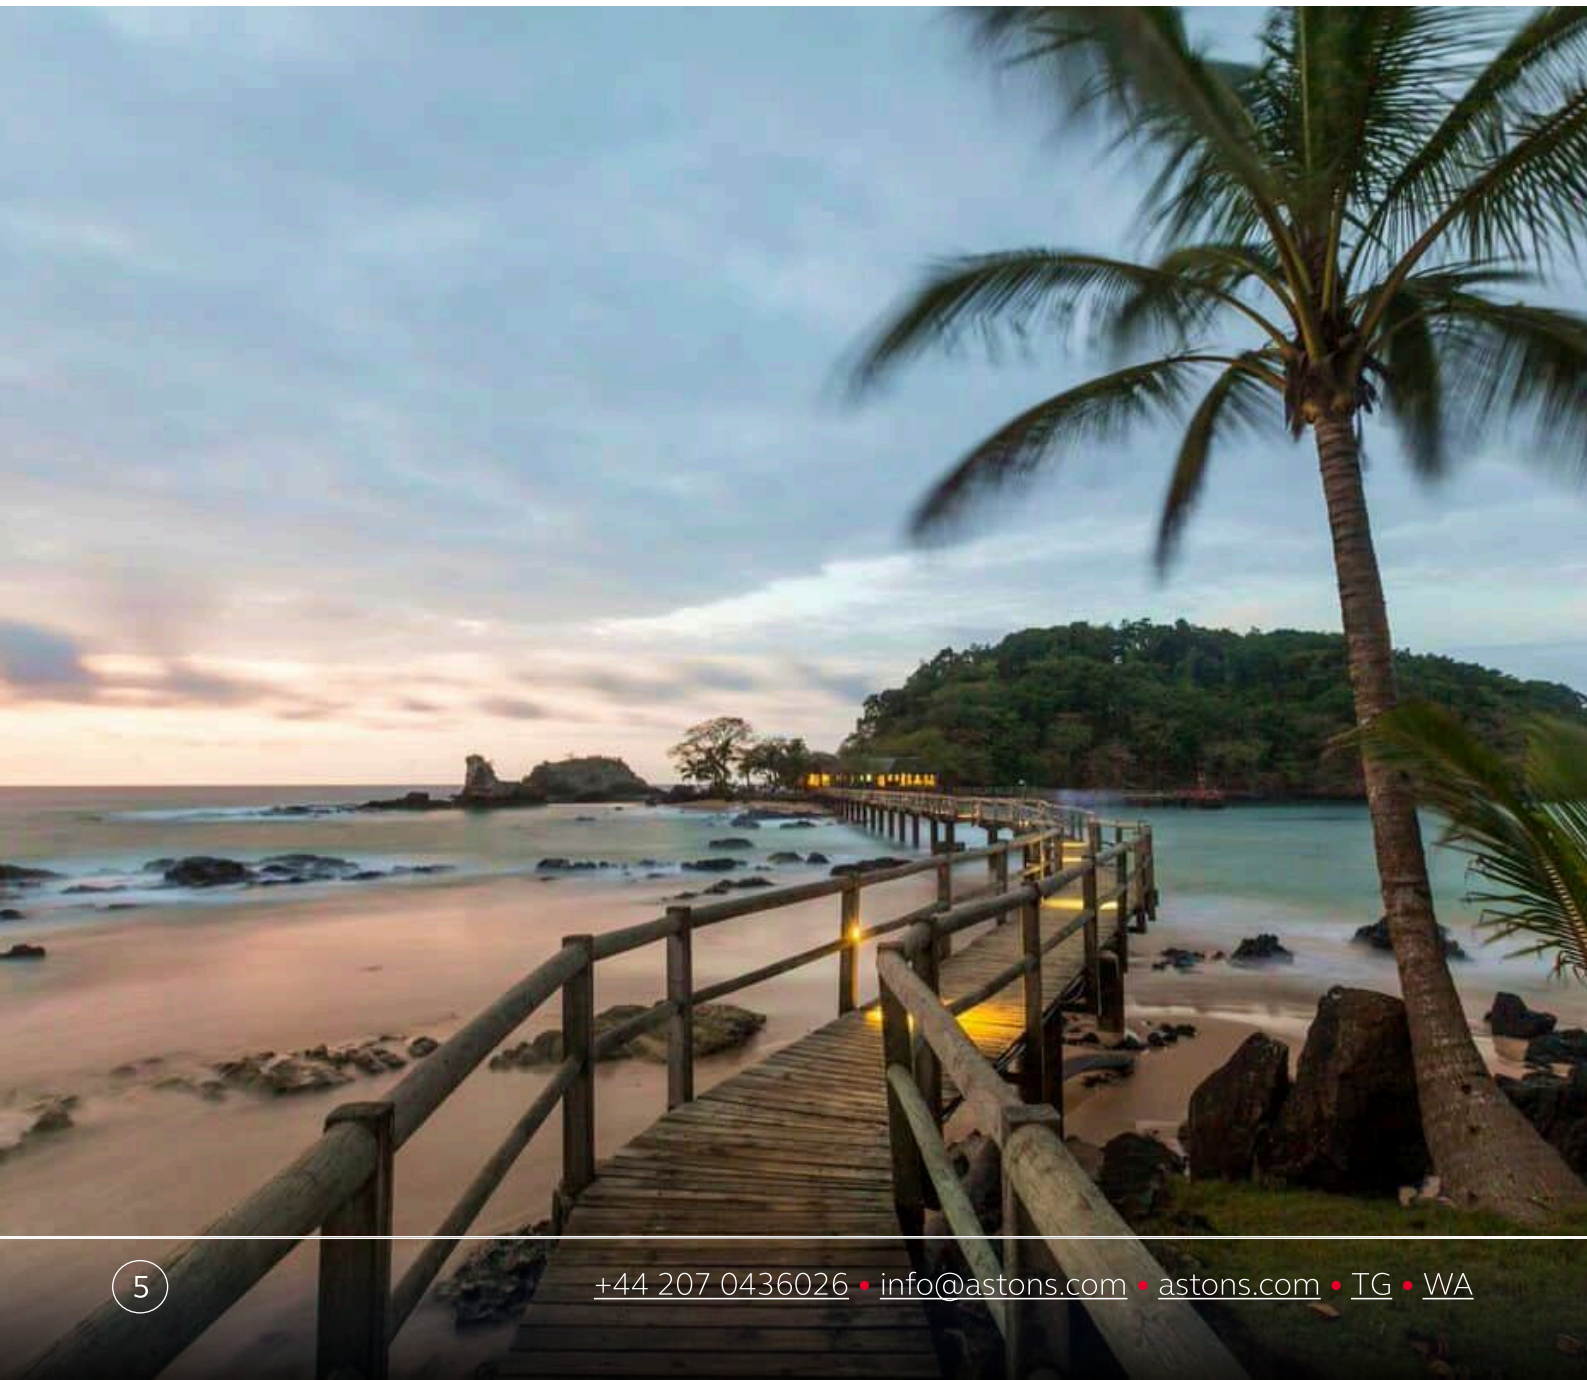

About Sao Tome and Principe

Population and Culture

The population of approximately 230,000 speaks Portuguese as the official language, with creole dialects also common. The culture reflects a fusion of African and Portuguese heritage, with Catholicism as the predominant faith.

International Relations

Sao Tome and Principe is a member of the United Nations, African Union, WTO, and CPLP. The nation maintains close partnerships with Portugal, Brazil, the EU, and other African states. Citizens benefit from CPLP membership, including enhanced mobility within Portuguese-speaking countries.

Conditions for Obtaining Sao Tome and Principe Citizenship by Investment

To qualify for the programme, applicants must make an irrevocable contribution to the National Transformation Fund. The required amount depends on the number of individuals included in the application:

$90 000

for one applicant

$95 000

for a family of up to 4 people

$5 000

for each additional dependent

Additional Expenses:

- Government application fee (varies depending on family size): $5,000
- Certificate of citizenship, national ID, and passport: $750 per person

Passport Validity Period:

- Adults: 7 years
- Children under 16: 3 years

The passport can be renewed at any Sao Tome and Principe consulate, including in Beijing, Brussels, Lisbon, or directly at the CIU office in Dubai.

Who Can Apply for the Programme?

To apply for Sao Tome and Principe citizenship, the main applicant must:

• Be over 18 years old at the time of application

• Have no criminal record and be in good legal standing

• Be in good health

• Successfully pass the Due Diligence check

The main applicant may include the following family members in the application:

Step by step guide: How to obtain citizenship of Sao Tome and Principe

1 Personal Consultation with Astons

An Astons specialist will assess your circumstances in detail, explain the programme's advantages, and provide a tailored list of required documents.

2 Application Preparation

Our experts prepare and compile the full application package and submit it to the UCID (Citizenship by Investment and Donation Unit).

3 Due Diligence

The government conducts a comprehensive, multi-level due diligence review of the applicant and included family members. At this stage, the applicant pays the registration fee (USD 5,000), due diligence fee, and applicable banking charges.

4 Preliminary Approval

Following successful due diligence, the UCID issues Approval in Principle.

5 Investment Contribution

The applicant transfers the required contribution to the National Transformation Fund ($90,000 and above, depending on family composition) and pays the associated fees for the citizenship certificate, national ID, and passport.

Oath and Passport Issuance

The applicant takes the oath of allegiance to Sao Tome and Principe, either in-country or at a consulate. Citizenship certificates, national ID, and passports are then formally issued.
