Permanent residence in the USA for investment EB-5 VISA

Benefits of the EB-5 Investor Visa

The EB-5 visa program was passed by the US Congress in 1990 and has steadily gained global popularity since the World Economic Crisis (2008–2013), which forced American developers to find new sources of capital and foreign investment for the construction of hotels, business centers, and residential properties.

To qualify for an EB-5 visa and become a green card resident, an applicant must invest at least $800,000 in an existing or new business located in a government-designated TEA (area with low private business activity and high unemployment). Outside of TEAs, the minimum investment is $1,050,000.

Freedom of movement

A US green card provides visa-free entry into Canada, Mexico, and several additional countries. A US passport provides visa-free access to 185+ countries

Streamlined process to citizenship

Renewable 12-month residency permit. Green card after 24 months. Opportunity to obtain American citizenship after 5 years

Family Eligibility

The investor, spouse, and unmarried children under 21 years of age are all eligible for green cards

US green card

The right to live, study, and work in the United States

Basic Eligibility

There is no work experience, language knowledge, or education requirements or criteria

Return on investment

Invest in government-approved projects - 5-year investment holds

Passive income

Investments in approved projects could result in dividend payouts throughout the entire investment hold

Criteria of the EB-5 program

Minimum Investment starting at $800,000 (all fees additional)

Investment in a business directly resulting in the creation of at least 10 jobs. An investor can invest in his own business or a Regional Center project.

Requirements: the investor must prove that the investment funds were legally acquired, disclose information about the funding source, and have no criminal record.

Investments in Regional Center projects

A regional center is a state-licensed development entity that brings together developers, investors, banks, and other management organizations to sponsor projects to participate in the EB-5 program. They ensure that all commercial and immigration obligations are met, including the creation of the required number of jobs. They also create a detailed business plan, prepare an investment memorandum, and other documents, as well as ensure that the project's location is in a high unemployment area of the country.

Investments in an investor's own US-based project

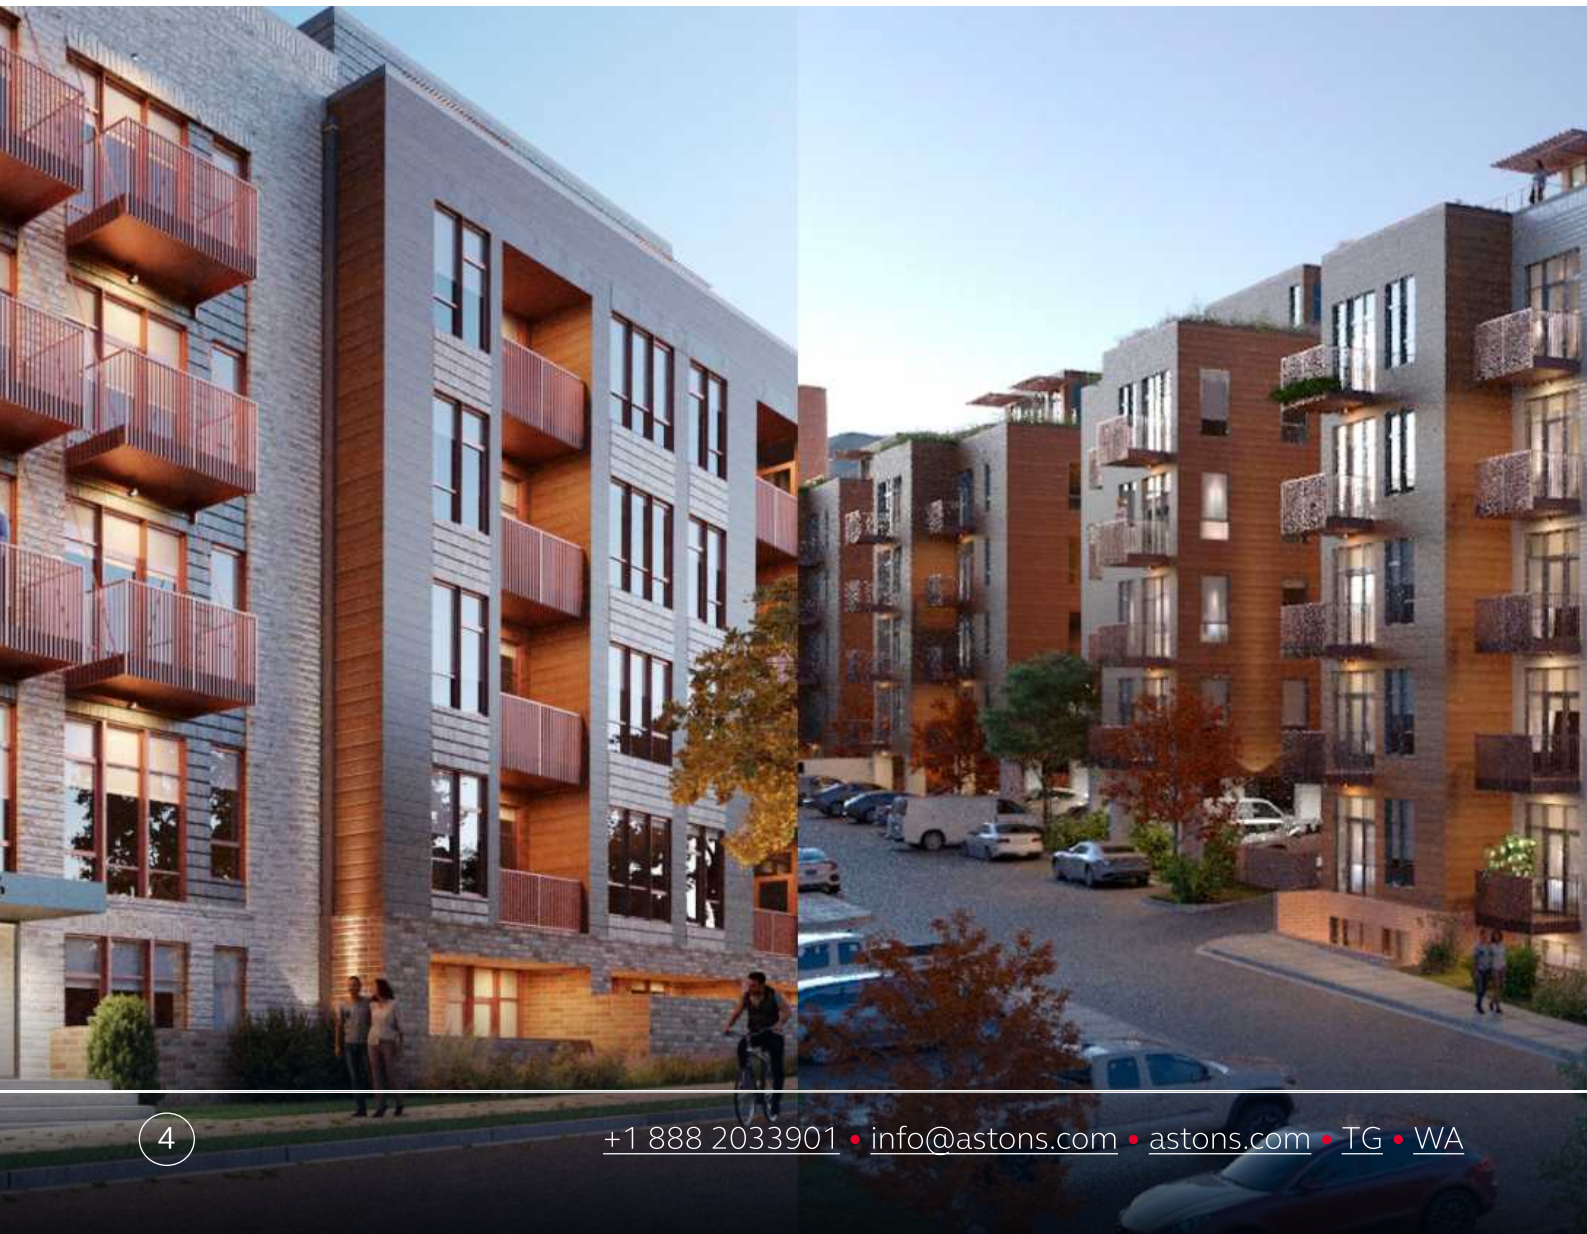

This option provides the investor with greater flexibility but also additional responsibilities. The investor must prove that the company created the mandatory 10 additional jobs, draft and defend a business plan, prepare an investment memorandum, and create/provide all other required documents.

Multi-family housing projects in Washington, DC

A class A residential complex with outside green space and on-street parking. The complex's amenities include a fitness center, outdoor recreation area, bicycle parking, and more. This is Washington Regional Center's 17th EB-5 project.

The total cost of the project is $129,500,000.

The developer is offering 51 housing units under the EB-5 program, costing $800,000 each.

Since the COVID-19 pandemic, multi-family properties have proven to be the most resilient asset class in the commercial real estate sector.

Washington's economy has historically been relatively resilient and more insulated from the effects of recession compared to other U.S. cities due to the presence of the federal government.

This residential complex is in the city center with convenient and easy access to public transportation. The project offers investors a three-fold job coverage ratio.

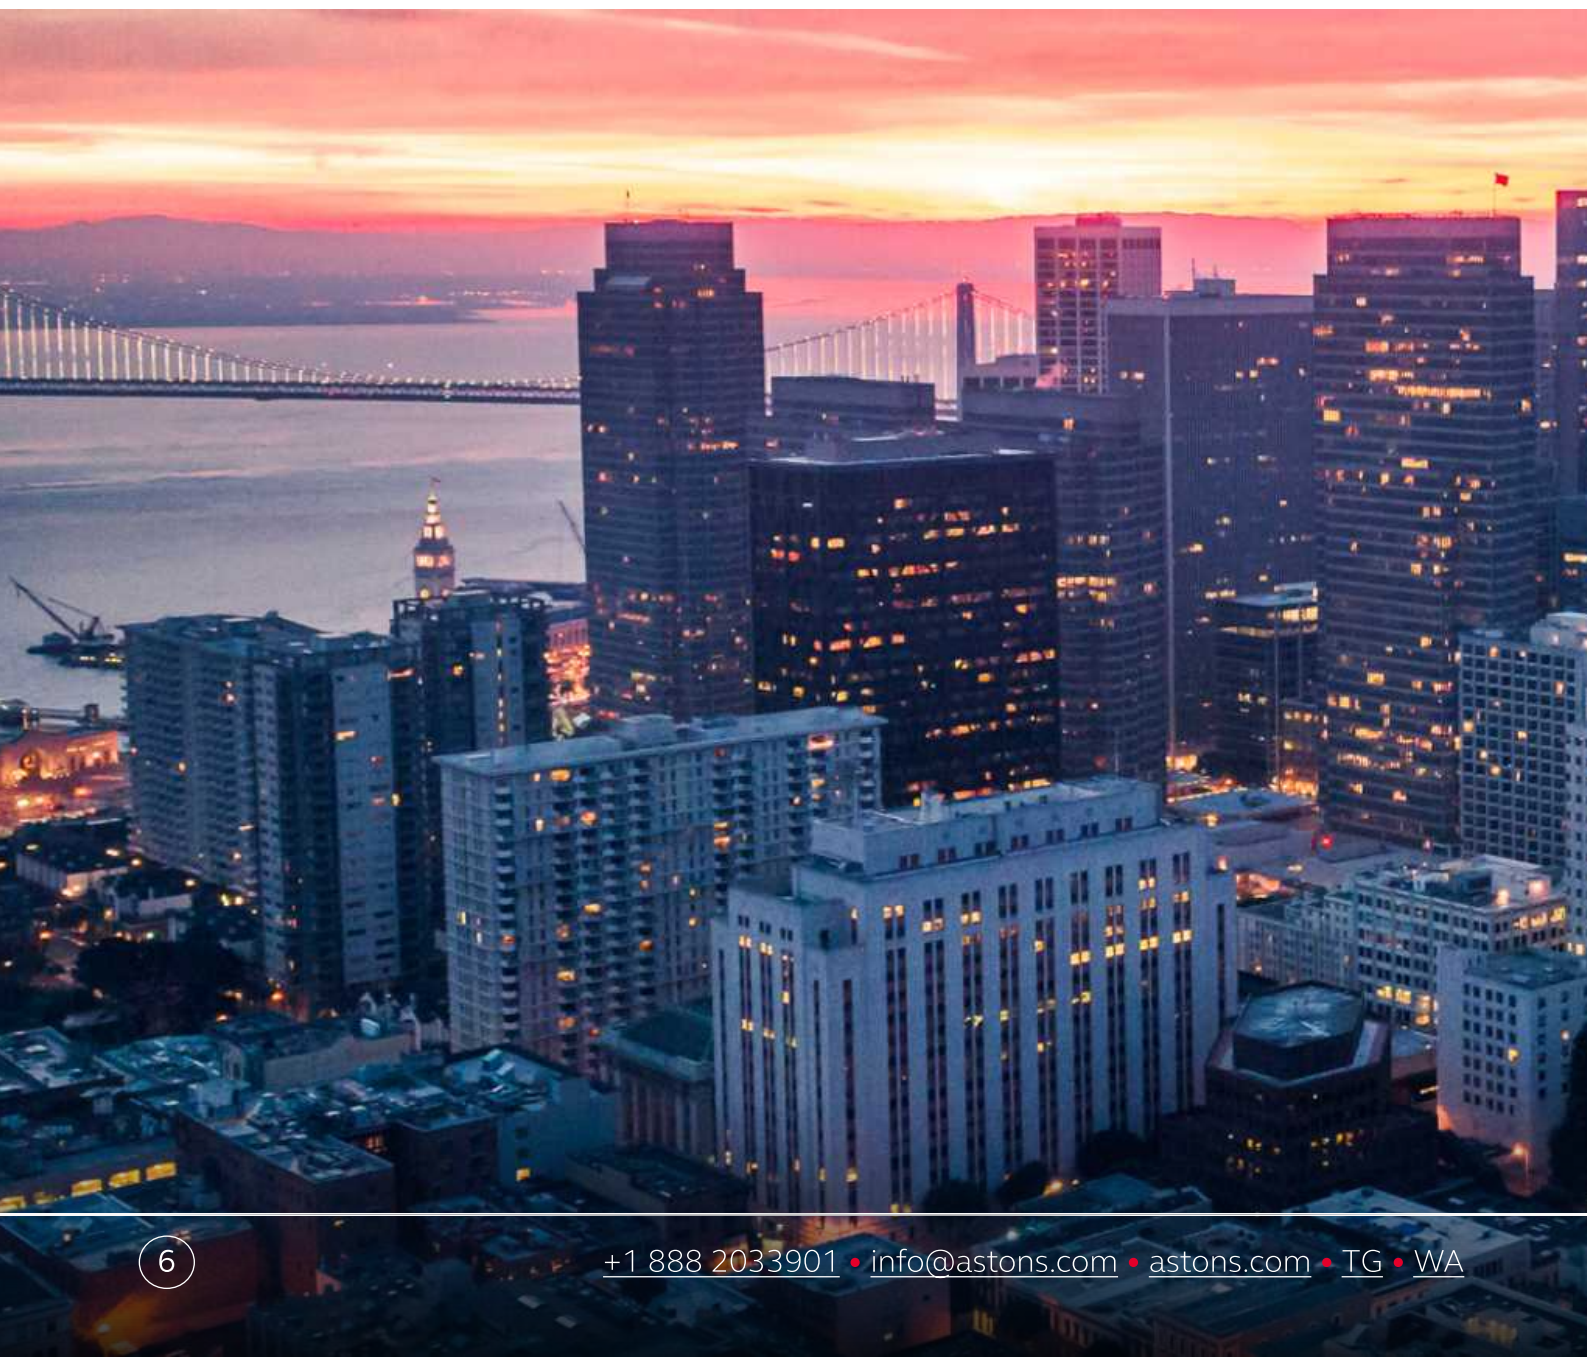

Hotel in San Francisco

This hotel is part of a multi-phase, mixed-use development that includes new homes, offices, and retail space. The project involves the construction of a 5-story, 164-room upscale hotel suitable for extended stays, with approximately 724 square meters of retail on the ground floor.

The total cost of the project is $98,700,000.

The estimated total investment under the EB-5 program will be $36,000,000.

The development is located a mile from San Francisco International Airport and adjacent to the Millbrae train station.

This is the fifth project under the EB-5 program. Four previous projects were successfully completed and two of them were fully repaid. The remaining two projects are already on the way to stabilization and repayment.

Branded hotels in San Luis Obispo

The project involves construction. The project involves two hotel complexes from different global brands, connected by a common lobby. Guest amenities will include a lobby bar, breakfast room, and courtyard with an outdoor pool and outdoor seating area. The master plan includes approximately 580 residential units, 200,000 square feet of commercial use, 150,000 square feet of office space, a 200-room hotel, and a portion of the site will remain open usable green space.

San Luis Obispo is a popular tourist destination known for its historic architecture, vineyards, and hospitality. The development area is primarily commercial (retail/restaurant). The property is located along Highway 101 - the main highway connecting Los Angeles to the San Francisco Bay area through California's coastal communities.

The project is expected to create more than 20 jobs for each investor.
The total cost of the project is $74,000,000

Multi-family housing in suburban Washington DC

The residential complex will include 327 luxury apartments with upscale amenities, including a clubhouse, fitness center, swimming pool, and picnic area. A total of 648 apartments and more than 3,716 sq. m. of retail space will also be included.

The project is expected to create more than 30 jobs per EB-5 investor (3 times the required job coverage ratio).

The total cost of the project is $106,600,000.

There are 52 residential units allocated for the EB-5 program with a total cost of $41,600,000.

Washington has a strong multi-family housing market with historically low vacancy rates and high barriers to entry. Multi-family properties have proven to be the most stable asset class in the commercial real estate sector. The Capitol Heights area attracts tourists due to its transit-oriented location on the Washington DC border. The project is within walking distance of Deanwood and Cheverly tube stations.

The process of obtaining permanent residence in the USA via the EB-5 visa

Up to 3 months

Time preparation

- 1 Consultation with an Astons immigration expert
An EB-5 program expert at Astons will assess your needs, wants, goals, and demands to be sure that they align with the program. If so, Astons will assist you through every step of the process including conducting our exclusive preliminary assessment and KYC/Due Diligence analysis to determine your likelihood of being approved. Additionally, Astons will assist you in selecting the best officially recognized Regional Center projects for you to consider investing in. If the EB-5 is not your best option, Astons will provide you with a list of additional programs that best suit your situation for you to consider.
- 2 Project Decision and Proof of Investment
Along with Astons' continued assistance and guidance, you will choose which official regional center project to invest in and formalize that decision by depositing $900K into a special escrow account. If the EB-5 application is denied, the funds are returned to the investor.
- 3 Preparing and filing the I-526 petition
Astons' attorneys collect and prepare documents to file the Immigrant Business Owner Petition (Form I-526) on behalf of our client. These documents include confirmation of the sources of funds and the investment plan of the project with the creation of the required jobs.

12 - 24 months

- 4 Applying for conditional permanent residence
Once the petition is approved, Astons will prepare documents to issue a conditional green card [valid for 2 years] for the investor and family. If the petition is rejected, the investment funds are refunded from the escrow account to the investor's account.
- 5 Official US residency
The investor and family become full US residents via the 2-year conditional green card. If applicants are not in the United States at the time the green cards are issued, they must enter the country within 180 days.
- 6 Preparing and Filing the I-829 Petition
Astons then prepares for the next stage of the process: collecting documents to file an I-829 petition - an application to remove the conditional status of the green card. Form I-829 must contain information about the successful completion of the investment project and confirmation of the creation of the required number of jobs.

3 years

Obtaining permanent residency in the USA

If the I-829 petition is approved, the investor and his family receive a permanent green card and can freely live, work, and study in the United States - five years after receiving the first conditional green card, the investor and family may apply for US citizenship, provided all requirements are met.

Typical list of required documents

We strongly recommend that you do not start collecting documents yourself. The actual list of needed documents will be developed by your immigration lawyer – as every client's needs are reviewed on an individual basis and depend on the specifics of the case. We provide support services for the immigration process at every stage - from the initial consultation and preparation of the preliminary file to the receipt of your green card.

The typical list of documents includes:

- Passports and residence permits (for all countries possessed by the investor)
- Birth and marriage certificates
- All documentation related to name changes
- Financial statements, bank guarantees, and legal certificates confirming the legality and purity of the source and possession of the investment funds

Why do global HNWIs choose the EB-5 program?

Currently, there are no bans or restrictions based on nationality or country of origin. The EB-5 program is currently open to citizens of the Russian Federation, Belarus, and other countries.
